THE LDZ EXPERIENCE

OVERVIEW

Synopsis: Through a live simulation, 10th- and 11th-grade students form a community of 150 leaders. Over the course of eight days, student delegates take on governance roles in an immersive game in making decisions, proposing ideas, reviewing proposals, and presenting a vision for communities of the future. By using business protocols and defined game rules, the week-long quest develops a broad array of skills and competencies, is full of personal growth opportunities, and generates awareness of national and global issues relevant to the quality of community life in years to come.

WHAT DO I EXPERIENCE AT THE LDZ?

“Intense.” “Mind-blowing.” “Amazing people.” “Unforgettable.” “Life-changing.” “Such intellectual people.” “A moment of real growth.” “Nothing like it.” “My world of opportunities just expanded.”

These words and statements are common descriptions used by students who annually participate in NHI’s flagship leadership development experience, the LDZ. Since 1982, students from across 20 states and four Latin American nations have convened on university campuses -- as well as virtually through LDZx --- to play a leadership game of vision, influence, and construction of communities of the future. At the LDZ, you and your fellow student leaders go on a quest together. You and your peers are challenged to write a new social narrative by proposing ideas, projects, and initiatives that will positively transform future communities. Along the road, you discover that knowledge, order, process, protocol, and navigation are all important.

THE LDZ EXPERIENCE

The LDZ challenges you to examine and affirm what you stand for. In the LDZ game, you and your peers get to decide what ideas, ideals, and values are most important to the future. LDZ is designed to spark the creative collaboration that will be required to inspire community change. At the LDZ, students form a government that reviews proposals, they elect each other to leadership roles, and then they are challenged to govern themselves. As each student is elected or appointed to a role — including senators, representatives, executive and judicial branch members — the experience of learning to be an influencer and everything that comes with it becomes increasingly real and fun! How effectively can your leadership class organize and build consensus becomes the real question.

From a personal perspective, understanding your own talents and areas for growth, alongside your peers, will help grow your public persona. Soon, you realize that there might be setbacks and hurdles on your journey but that ultimately you are a bright and intuitive leader. These obstacles are a healthy part of learning. What takes years of life experience for some leaders is accelerated in eight intensive days at the LDZ. After the program, LDZers often reflect on the experience as a space where they felt free to express themselves, their ideas, and honed their skills. They felt culturally embraced, understood, and valued. At the LDZ, they began to see themselves as playing a leadership role wherever life takes them, whether at home, in school, in a career, or in service to others. Most of all, they feel special in knowing that leadership is a life-long calling in which they have a special role to play with NHL.

LDZ TESTIMONIALS

"After LDZ, I plan to give back to my community by inspiring the youth to construct their own futures. I was inspired by the program to build confidence in my abilities to write the narrative to my own future as well." –Annel, Illinois, 2021 CALDZ

"(LDZ)allowed me to realize that anywhere I go, adapting to situations I am in and learning to execute are keys to success and being a true leader. As I continue growing, NHI will be a priority in my life." – Lindsay, Texas, 2021 TXLDZ

"I invite you all to relive and reimagine what you have experienced in LDZx. Take every ounce of greatness you have experienced throughout this program and use it to propel you into a truly meaningful life. The lessons, the ideas, the experiences, the bonds." – Julian, Pennsylvania, 2021 LDZx

"The purpose of my participation in the LDZ was to learn more about myself. As the week progressed, I saw that my purpose was to go out into the world and start to act, speak with more confidence, and gain more experiences. I realized that I can do a lot on my own, but it is much better to do it with some help, because my partners contributed to my growth in confidence, as well." – Elizabeth, Colorado, 2021 COLDZ

A BRIEF HISTORY

In 1983, NHI launched its first state-wide youth leadership project. The Lorenzo de Zavala Youth Legislative Session, better known as the LDZ, debuted in Austin, Texas. It was created for youth who wanted to play key leadership roles in their families and communities. NHI reached out to parents and school administrators who wanted to invest in high-quality leadership development for their high school age children to prepare them for the future.

At the time LDZ started, it seemed unimaginable that it would expand to other states and nations. The New Mexico program launched in 1988 at the University of New Mexico and was followed by the 1989 Colorado at Colorado State University.

Then LDZ expanded from Chicago to New York to the West Coast, and then to Mexico and Panama. Five independent LDZ experiences annually inspire hundreds of students to collaborate, innovate, and lead their communities.

In 2022, NHI plans to host three in-person LDZ programs as well as the virtual LDZx. In 2020, due to the global pandemic, NHI postponed the LDZ. In 2021, NHI phased back three programs and launched the inaugural virtual LDZx youth governance experience. LDZx allows for youth to participate from the comfort of their home offering a reliable option for families who may have concerns about travel and safety. LDZx is also an ideal experience for students looking to advance their media production, broadcasting, or digital communication skills.

HOW WILL THE LDZ EXPERIENCE IMPACT ME?

The LDZ has a deep and enduring impact on the hearts and minds of young people. Putting the LDZ philosophy (If it's meant to be, it's up to me!) to work in your own life has huge advantages.

You will feel inspired to make a difference in the lives of others. You will feel more dedicated to excellence and inspire those around you to do the same. You will enjoy challenges and being part of learning communities that dream big. And you will feel proud to associate yourself with a leadership class of highly motivated, intelligent and dedicated peers who seek to grow their leadership skills and be known for their strong impact on society.

LDZ CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION

People who are strong candidates for the LDZ should seek to develop their leadership potential, want to share their talents with their communities, and aim to broaden their network of like-minded peers! LDZ students are drawn from a national and international pool of applicants who are primarily nominated by NHI's network of legacy families, volunteers, schools/districts, and community-based organizations. Students may also nominate themselves, and will undergo the same review process as all other applicants.

“We look for bright, spirited young people who definitely plan to enroll in college, want to be around peers like them, and see themselves in leadership roles in the emerging Latino community,” states Gloria de León, NHI's principal architect of the program. “If they already come to NHI with fundamental leadership habits like a strong academic record, timeliness, a positive outlook, and solution-driven attitudes, they will get the most out of the LDZ.”

2022 PROGRAM SCHEDULES

LDZ IN PERSON

LDZers enjoy the first day checking into their dorm rooms, meeting their roommates and counselors, and team building. Early the next morning, the two-day convention of student delegates begins, followed by youth government elections and a three-day legislative session. There's typically a fun outing the second night of the legislative session, and after the students wrap up their legislative meetings, they celebrate by showcasing their talents at a cultural show. All LDZs host a college fair and college readiness discussions during the week, allowing students to meet and interact with university recruiters. On the final evening of the program, parents are invited to view the emotionally-charged LDZ awards ceremony and take pictures of their children. Afterward, students enjoy music, dancing, and socializing. On the final morning, students gather one last time to say their final goodbyes until their next NHI program, either Celebración or the Collegiate World Series (CWS).

LDZx VIRTUAL EXPERIENCE

LDZxers enjoy a blend of online modules, mentoring by NHI Senior Counselors (college students), and direct interaction with highly trained faculty members who inspire each student to think deeply about their views, outlooks, and beliefs. Their primary purpose is to form policy around their ideas, while considering what contacts they need to build to support passing their ideas through a legislative process. In the world of online interaction, their ability to deliver powerful messages, short sound bites, and memorable imagery are at play throughout the program. Furthermore, networking in a digital space presents its own unique set of challenges. Whether meeting someone from a different country, presenting in a small group Zoom session, or submitting a video for consideration and review, the LDZx mimics the current world state of affairs in a digital age. Students not only gain the invaluable lessons from the LDZ, but increase their capacity to govern in a digital space.

PARENT PERSPECTIVE

"It was a difficult decision to allow my daughter to travel so far away from me to attend the NHI LDZ. As most Latino parents, we hold on very tightly to our children. Being the 'modern' mom I portray myself to be, I thought it would be terrible if I did not allow her to experience something that could potentially transform her thinking... During that week, I witnessed through phone calls and text messages that my baby was absorbing so much about the world outside her own and learning so much more than we all anticipated. She came home with a newfound freedom and independence that was so inspiring."

- Angelica, Pennsylvania

LDZ ALUMNI

NHI invites its LDZ alumni to return each year as volunteer leaders, guiding the next generation of leaders through their growth experiences, and coming back each time to relive and share in the magical experience. The mentors and counselors at LDZ include professionals who form a diverse international network, including business leaders, doctors, lawyers, entrepreneurs, higher education officials, clergy members, researchers, and public servants. NHI attracts young people from all perspectives, backgrounds and walks of life who want to start shaping their realities while in high school, and our alumni reflect that ambition.

We have the capacity to design and initiate plans that give us advantages in life. Invest time in learning, reflecting, improving and sharing best practices. Feeling uncomfortable at times means you're in a growth mode. A new mindset means new results. Find ways to get things done better, faster, and more creatively.
